KITAP / ITAP (Izin Tinggal Tetap)

Facts as at 12/10/2026

Who this is for

Temporary stay permit (ITAS) holders who want to change to permanent stay (ITAP).

At a glance

The Indonesian Permanent Stay Permit (ITAP) can be granted upon application through the conversion of a Limited Stay Permit (ITAS). It is available to ITAS holders engaged in work, clergy activities, foreign investment, family reunification, repatriation, or second home categories. Applications for status conversion must be submitted no later than 30 days before the current ITAS expires.
Who it is for: Temporary stay permit (ITAS) holders who want to change to permanent stay (ITAP).
Stay: Permanent stay, granted 5 years at a time
Validity: 5 years, renewable indefinitely
Renewal: Renewable

Why people choose it

Permanent stay permit. It follows eligibility, not a tourist visa.

Eligibility

What you need to show: You must hold a qualifying ITAS and apply at least 30 days before it expires.
Sponsor: Sponsor documents are needed if your stay is sponsored.
Other conditions: You can apply to extend no earlier than 3 months before it expires. Family members joining an ITAP holder get a permit for the same period.

Documents

Valid national passport
Statement of integration (except for unmarried children under 18 years old)
Foreign national's current ITAS
Proof of sponsorship from a sponsor (if applicable)
ID card (KTP) and/or family card (KK) of the sponsor or guarantor (if applicable)
ITAP of spouse, parent, or child (if joining an ITAP holder family member)
Apply at least 30 days before your ITAS expires, with your passport, a signed integration statement (not needed for unmarried children under 18), your ITAS, and sponsor documents if you have a sponsor
