Singapore Long-Term Visit Pass (LTVP)

Facts as at 13/10/2026

Who this is for

Foreigners sponsored for family reasons under ICA Long-Term Visit Pass categories — eligible family members of citizens, PRs, or certain other published categories.

At a glance

ICA issues the Long-Term Visit Pass to the spouse of a Singapore citizen or permanent resident, unmarried children under 21 of citizens or PRs, parents of citizens or PRs, graduates of Singapore institutes of higher learning looking for work, a parent or grandparent of a child studying on a Student's Pass, and visitors given permission to give birth in Singapore. A Singaporean or PR sponsor applies online. ICA usually decides within 6 weeks for most categories, and up to 6 months for spouses who skip the Pre-Marriage LTVP Assessment.
Who it is for: Foreigners sponsored for family reasons under ICA Long-Term Visit Pass categories — eligible family members of citizens, PRs, or certain other published categories.

Why people choose it

For eligible family members of citizens, PRs, or pass holders.

Eligibility

What you need to show: Fit a published ICA LTVP category. ICA assesses family ties, economic contributions, qualifications, age, family profile, and length of residency. Approval discretionary.
Work: Not stated by the official source.
Sponsor: SC/PR sponsor via Singpass on ICA e-Service, or local SC/PR sponsor (21+) for certain categories; IHL graduates may use non-Singpass option.
Other conditions: A renewed pass runs from its date of issue, and any time left on the old pass is not carried over.
Renewable: Yes
Renewal: Submit the renewal application at least 3 months before current pass expiration. Validity runs from the date of issuance and remaining validity is not carried forward.
